

Animal Communication with Chiara Marrapodi

A calling

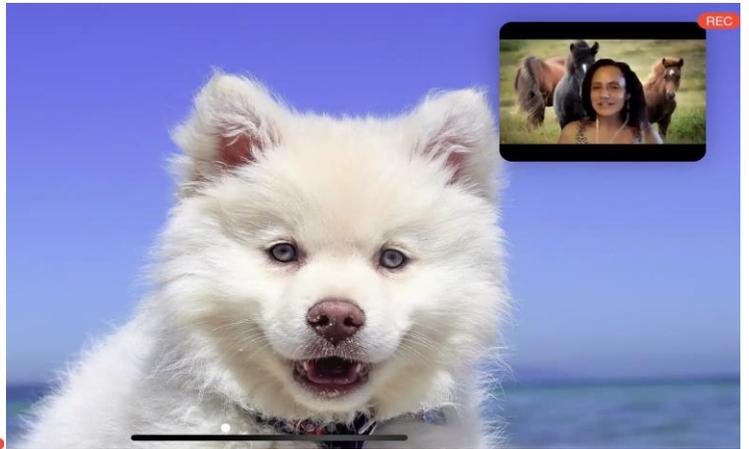

Animals take a huge burden on behalf of humans the least we can do is not project our narrative negative beliefs and our inadequacies upon them. animal communication is dialogue. It is not about and expecting full compliance or else - that's a dictatorship. That's humans using levels of forced animal communication to manipulate animals to do our bidding. This is another form of abuse. This is limited thinking. It is the loss of the heart. If anything animals turn off when animal communication is used in this manner and tune you and the communicator out. It's called shutting down.

Animals thrive when they are deeply respected, heard, understood and truly seen for who they are on their terms. This is also known as love.

When my animals see me they expand, they don't contract. They feel safe, they feel relief. You can gauge this by their physiological response at my presence:- they breathe out deeply, their tails are high up in a state of happiness, they verbalize to me spontaneously and they come to me without force. They want to be with me and they are themselves, because I give them space to do so. They can breathe. There is no force. They are free. They are heard. They are respected. They are understood. They are loved. Animal communication is a dialogue about love. Nervous system to nervous system first

A dogs view

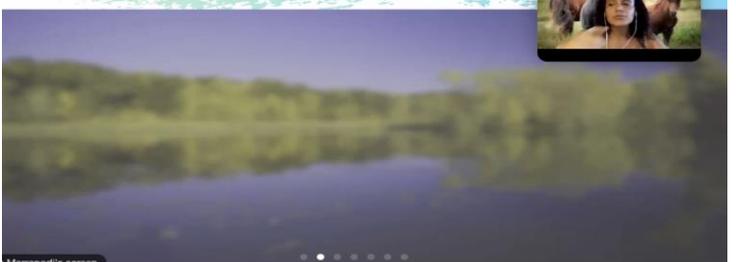

- Innocence
- Playful
- Acceptance
- Joy
- Full body experience
- Real
- Engaging
- Whole self

What you see

A dogs view

Live Comms- Amber

- Owner: Cheryl Noble
- Permission received to publish photo

Can she ever have puppies?
Would she ever stop jumping on visitors?
What does, if anything, she bark at late at night?

Live Comms - Artie Smartie

- Owner: Brenda Mannon
- Permission received to publish photo

How are you feeling?
What can I do to make you happier?
Do you have something to tell me that you think I need to know?

Chiara was amazing!!! Here are some of the slides from her presentation. She has a unique history and approach to animals that is truly engaging. The "Live Comms" are the first 5 members who registered for the event. They received a free reading for their pet during the presentation. I know them all and their pets. So, I can honestly say that the information she imparted was spot on for each pet. It was fabulous!

A Feline View

A Feline View

Chiara Marrapodi's screen

Curiosity & Play

- Supports brain plasticity
- Allows for embedding of new experiences
- Expansive
- Creates deep Heart-to-Heart™ connection
- Supports understanding and growth

Live Comms - Lena

- Owner: Laurie Sayward
- Permission received to publish photo

How did she end up under the car in the Office Depot parking where I found her?

Why won't she come to me once she's been frightened, even when I offer treats? (They only get treats when I do nail trims or I need them to come to me.)

(Part b of above) How can I comfort her when she's afraid?

Why won't she play with me and the toys on the closet door anymore? Does she want another type?

Copyright Chiara Marrapodi 2020

Live Comms - Angel

- Owner: Janet Falconer
- Permission received to publish photo

1. Does Angel have any health issues that I need to be aware of?
2. Does Angel want me to intervene when my boy kitty picks on her?
3. Is there anything she specifically wants me to know?

Live Comms - Diego

- Owner: Joan Boccio
- Permission received to publish photo

(other than why are you so noisy?????) HA what do you need to be entertained?
 how are you most comfortable??
 ???
 not coming up with anything else....I'll leave it up to you

Copyright Chiara Marrapodi 2020

Rhythm

- Animals are rhythmical beings
- Animal communication is no different
- Animal communication is likened to poetry
- Prosidy – rhythm – trust - flow

Chiara is connected to the animals in a miraculous way. She is generous, enjoyable and informed. We will surely invite her again for another event to share her wealth of insight and compassion for wild as well as domestic animals.